

www.airraid.com

Airraid.com began many years ago when the creator of Airraid, Lindsay Trill was searching for confidence building information on the world wide web, to help her with her fear of flying.

The information that was found was so fragmented and difficult to access, that Lindsay decided to set up her own website - Airraid.com This UK based website is dedicated to help people like Lindsay, to have easy web access, in one place, to information that could help them with their fear of flying.

Airraid.com is an information station and is selected on average 10000 times per day and personal page visits of 400 per day. Airraid.com has had a Google ranking of number 1 World Wide. There is an obvious need for information and help on the Fear of Flying so Airraid.com is always on the lookout for more information to place here. Please contact us if you feel that you can contribute to this website to help others.

Many top companies have participated in the Airraid website and have sent in excellent editorials, clinical reports, travel health advice, newspaper reports, product promotions, consultant psychologist help page, hypnosis and details of courses. There are over 50 pages of content showing the wide range of help that is available to people who have a fear of flying.

The website has shopping links, where carefully selected products have been tried and tested by Airraid visitors and are recommended to make flying a more comfortable experience. (These affiliate links help to support the maintenance costs of Airraid.com)

The future - Always on the lookout for more information to help people with their fear of flying.

The courses of Virgin Airlines, British Airways, Britannia Airways, Qantas, and SwissAir, for the fear of flying, are already promoted on the website and Airraid is always looking for more courses and seminars to include on www.airraid.com

Airraid has been involved in research for 3 TV studios for programmes linked the fear of flying and look forward to helping other TV and radio programmes with their research.

If you feel that you have a useful editorial that could help those with a fear of flying - please contact us.

Thank you and we hope you find what you are looking for in
www.airraid.com